

FACULTY

G. W. HART
B. S., M. A.
Miss. Southern College

High School Principal
Social Studies

L. B. CHATHAM
B. S.
University of Miss.
Athletics - Physical Ed.
Social Studies

MRS. MAY BELENCHIA
B. A.
M. S. C. W.
English - Librarian - Latin

MRS. GERTRUDE CONNER
B. S.
Delta State College
Business

RICHARD HENRY
B. A.
Delta State College
Social Studies - Business
Physical Ed.

SAM WHITE
B. S.
Miss. State College
Agriculture

MRS. EDITH BAILEY
B. S.
Delta State College
English

MRS. RICHARD McLEARY
B. S.
Miss. Southern College
Homemaking

J. W. YATES
B. S.
Delta State College
Science - Mathematics

MRS. LOUISE HURDLE
B. S.
Miss. Southern College
English

MISS FERN PATTIE
B. A.
Delta State College
Third Grade

SID PRIEST
B. S.
Delta State College
Mathematics

MRS. JANULA DAVIS
B. A.
University of Miss.
Second Grade

MRS. ALLENE YATES
B. S.
Delta State College
Sixth Grade

MISS MATTIE COBB
Delta State College
First Grade

MRS. IMOGENE WYNNE
B. A.
Miss. Southern College
Fifth Grade

MRS. LOUISE HALL
Memphis College of Music
Elementary Music - Piano

MRS. ROBERTA WADE
B. A.
Delta State College
Fourth Grade

MRS. CLINT GREER
B. M.
M. S. C. W.
High School Chorus
Piano

REFLECTIONS . . . IN OUR SCHOOL BUILDING

There it stood - Shelby High, a sprawling brick building that combined modern efficiency with spacious ease. That September, 1950, the faint odor of fresh paint and the shiny newness of the entire school gave a special touch to the first day of school.

1950-1960 . . . ten short years, but what a change they have made to SHS! This once coolly impersonal structure has softened almost visibly. The halls now echo the laughter of the students; the classrooms visually evidence each teacher's personality; the campus reflects the enthusiasm of many of the students. The builders left an inanimate shell, but the students have given it life.

REFLECTIONS . . . IN THE FACES OF OUR STUDENTS

Faces . . . faces . . . faces . . . with extra friendly smiles on the first day of school . . . with unbelievably excited laughter at the games . . . with humble gratefulness at Thanksgiving . . . with pained expressions during research theme time . . . with horrified "Oh, no's!" at the mention of a forgotten test . . . with light-hearted happiness at holiday time . . . with dread and regret as exams approached and with relief when they were over . . . with harried expressions from the rush of Senior parties . . . with happy pride tinged with tears at Graduation.

Faces crowded the halls. Faces crowded the classrooms. Faces crowded the auditorium . . . Junior High, Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors . . . each an individual, but each a vital part of the Student Body of SHS.