

The Nicholas Horn Family

Nicholas Horn was born in Tennessee about 1815. Some believe his father was another early Itawamba County settler named Zacheus Horn. Both men were on tax lists there in the mid-to-late 1830s, and both had ties to Tennessee. All records found indicate Nicholas was born there. Although census records list North Carolina as the birthplace of Zacheus, Tennessee was once part of that state. He was on tax lists in White Co, TN (1811-1815) and census records in Franklin Co, TN (1830), so he lived there for quite a while. Sometime after 1830 he went into Alabama; probably the extreme northwestern corner. He was on Itawamba County's tax list in 1836, however, so he wasn't in Alabama very long. Zacheus was a stage driver and was often found near the Natchez Trace.

SPELLING OF THE NAME: Although old American records usually spell the name Horn, ancestors of both men probably used the English spelling (Horne) because records and migration patterns indicate they were from England. Of course, other people had a lot to do with spelling found on old documents. In modern times, most descendants of Nicholas living in the area spell the name Horne. Both spellings are used in this report, depending upon the source or person referenced.

More on Nicholas Horn

Records indicate Nicholas was an honorable man. He lived with the same wife for over 60 years; reared 9 children; cared for his land and stock; was an "ole-time" Methodist; and defended his home with the 4th MS during the Civil War.

MARRIAGE

On March 25, 1841, Nicholas married Jane Hill, daughter of Abel Hill and Leah (maiden name possibly Kyle or Davis). Jane Hill was born August 6, 1824 in Wayne Co, TN. She had one full brother named John Alexander Hill.

BURIAL SITE

Nicholas and Jane were alive in August of 1902 when he applied for a Confederate pension and stated he "...lived with his wife," but court papers indicate they both died before 1907 and were buried in Hopewell Methodist Cemetery.

LAND COORDINATES

Nicholas and Jane owned land southeast of Tilden and southwest of Tremont. This area came to be known as Horn's Crossing, and there is a road sign to that effect today off the Nita Lake Road in the Tilden Community. Land description:

100 acres, north side NE qtr, Section 36, Township 10, Range 9E
60 acres, south FM Rd, SW qtr, Section 25, Township 10, Range 9E
15 acres, NE corner, NW qtr, Section 36, Township 10, Range 9E

According to court papers dated 1907, aforementioned land was bought by Andrew Horn, and proceeds were divided among descendants after Nicholas and Jane died.

All of SE 1/4 of Section 25, T10, R9E. All of SW 1/4 of Section 25, T10, R9E north of Fulton Rd to mouth of (?); then up Spring Branch and intersect said road on top of hill, running east and west, being in all 200 acres, more or less, and lying in Itawamba County, Mississippi.

According to recorded deeds, Nicholas and Jane bought this second section of land from their son, Houston, in 1885 and sold it to their son, Steve, in 1900. The only descendant who owns land at Horn's Crossing today is Doug Horne, Nicholas' great-grandson through sixth son, Gaines, and his son, Clyde Porter.

MILITARY DUTY

On his Confederate pension application (dated Aug, 1902) Nicholas stated he served with the 4th MS, Company H, under Captain John McDonald and Colonel Carol Brumley. He joined in 1862 and was discharged after 7 months with pneumonia. When recovered, he rejoined the same unit and was still active at its surrender at Corinth, MS in 1865. (Two questions on the application were, "Have you any sons over 18 and under 21?" "If so, how many?" His answer was "Nary one.")

Nicholas' oldest son, James, as well as Zacheus Horn and his son, Henry, served with the 10th MS. James, another of Zacheus' sons, was in a cavalry unit attached to the 2nd MS. Zacheus joined the 10th MS in Saltillo in Feb 1861 before the unit was even officially formed in April of that year. He was 70+ years old at the time he joined! In April of 1861, he was discharged, probably due to his age. His military record indicates he may have been with the 10th again later in the war for a period of at least a year. Toward the end of the war, the South was desperate and began using anyone willing to fight, including old men and boys. NOTE: The 10th MS was part of the Army of Tennessee and saw action from Florida to Kentucky, particularly at the battles of Shiloh, Murfreesboro, Atlanta, and Munfordville.

CHILDREN OF NICHOLAS HORN AND JANE HILL

Nicholas and Jane had ten children, nine of whom lived to adulthood. They lost their oldest to the Civil War and three more to the great Texas migration after the war. Two of their children had no descendants, and most of the others didn't have overly-large families. At least five of their grandchildren never married. Most of their children didn't live as long as Nicholas and Jane, but their son, Andrew, and daughter, Mary, both lived to be nearly 100 years old!

1. James T. Horn was born in 1843 in Itawamba County. He joined the 10th MS in 1861 when he was just 18 and never married or had children because he died at the Battle of Atlanta in July of 1864. His body was not returned to Itawamba County but was probably given some sort of military burial in Atlanta, Georgia.

2. Mary Emmaline Horn was born February 12, 1846 in Itawamba County and died July 22, 1944 in El Campo, Texas. On December 29, 1870 she married George Davison, son of James and Narcisse Stafford Davison. Mary and George moved to Itasca, Hill Co, Texas in 1891, and George died there in 1893. Sometime after his death, she and her children moved to El Campo, Wharton County, Texas. Mary and all of her children except the youngest, Clifford, are buried in a family plot in the ODHS Cemetery in El Campo.

Children of Mary Emmaline Horn and George Davison

1) James Terry was born September 24, 1871 in Itawamba County and died May 6, 1921 in El Campo, Texas. He never married and worked in the family businesses, Davison Brothers Garage and Davison Brothers Grain Company.

2) L. Etta Davison was born September 7, 1874 in Itawamba County and died July 24, 1964 in El Campo, Wharton Co, Texas. She married Samuel Wigginton August 26, 1894 in Itawamba County and had nine children. Sam died in 1933 in El Campo.
