Gossip

An exchange speaking of that character destroying sin has the following: “Gossip has made many a hell on earth. It has sullied the character of many noble innocent men and pure respectable women; it has made enemies of life long friends; parted lovers and divorced man and wife, it has filled many a life with misery, hatred, mistrust, suspicion. The tongue of gossip drips a subtle poison, which flows into the vitals of man’s character and blights his or her regard for the truth, honesty and forbearance of the noble virtues that distinguish the gentleman from the poltroon and high bred lady from the haggling market woman. Gossip is the open door to slander, is the murderer of character and good name. Take care, then, how you gossip.”

You will notice a case in the proceedings of the Court this week where a man was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for deserting his wife. This case is under a new law recently passed by the legislature, and it is the first case that we have ever known tried in our State. The legislature deserves a chromo for this new law. We know nothing about the case tried in our county, but we do know that this is one of the best laws on our Statutes, and should be enforced to the letter throughout this country. If a man deserves a penitentiary sentence for anything he could do, it is for deserting a deserving wife and children.

Winston County Journal

There is quite a difference of opinion among those who take stock in such matters as to whether the proverbial ground hog saw his equally proverbial shadow of February 2 or not. If said ground hog was an early riser he probably saw his reflection and went immediately back to his subterranean abode, while on the other hand if he came out late the sun was far from shining and he got his sleek coat wet. The adage is that if he saw his shadow he went back into his hole for six weeks and if he did not spring is here.

The George County Times says: "There are quite a few eggs laid away from present indication to hatch our candidates for next year's politics and from what we can find out there is a full setting of candidates for sheriff. This seems to be the plums that are offered in next year's-election. These eggs will begin to burst along about the close of the year; by the first part of next year the country will be full of the "Pesky Critters."

Elethan Tart, who has been superintendent of the Soldiers' Home of Beavoor for a number of years, resigned that position a few days ago. Friction among the trustees, and especially the manifest opposition to him by Trustee Humphries, is given as Mr. Tart's reason for his act.

Let us begin preparing for the large crowd that will be here March 12, when the County Field Meet will be held in Belmont. No effort must be spared in making our visitors feel welcome and comfortable while they are our guest.

A headline in the daily press says "Partial Prohibition Works in France." That's about the way it works in this country.

Don't knock, but boost for your home town. You will feel better and your neighbors will have a better opinion of you.

BELMONT'S BUSINESS MEN ARE PLANNING TO DO THINGS

Since January 1, 1926 several changes and improvements have been made in the business section of Belmont.

The Hicks Building at the east end of Main Street, where Mr. B. L. Hicks for several years has successfully conducted a feed and grocery store, and in which were also located The Times, J. E. Stephens Lumber office. J. E. Clement lumber office and the offices of Hicks Lumber Company, has been completely overhauled and remodeled. The main building will be occupied by Gray & Co., of Booneville. The room formerly occupied by

The Times has been arranged and equipped as a first-class moving picture theatre; Mr. Clement has moved his office into the brick building adjoining Dr. Johnson's office; Mr. Stephens has fitted up an office on his lumber yard; the Hicks Lumber Company has opened offices in Haleyville, Ala., and The Times occupies the building adjoining Summer & Co.

J. W. Hallmark has purchased the property adjoining his service station; and last week began the work of tearing away the old building, and we understand he will begin the construction of a modern brick structure on this property at an early date.

Our little town truly seems to have taken on new life since the dawning of the New Year, and we confidently hope to see it soon rank as the best trading point on the Illinois Central Birmingham division "Determination and co-operation will do it.

EDUCATION ASSOCIATION MEETS

The Tishomingo County Education Association held the regular monthly meeting at Tishomingo, February 13th in the consolidated school building. About two thirds of the teachers of the county were present. The program consisted of discussion on athletics, better school attendance, securing the interest of the parents, health program and suggestions from the county superintendent.

Probably the outstanding feature of the meeting was arriving at a plan for the county field meet. Preliminaries in basketball will be played March 6 at Iuka and Belmont. Finals in basketball will be played March 10 at Tishomingo. Examinations will be held February 27 at Burnsville, Iuka, Paden, Tishomingo and Belmont. A GOOD WOMAN GONE TO REST

Mrs. Elizabeth Mayhall, age 80, after an illness of two years, passed away Tuesday, February 2nd at the home of her son H. E. Mayhall, one mile south of Belmont. The funeral was conducted by Rev. A. M. Nix, pastor of the Baptist Church, of which she had been a member for 65 years.

Burial took place in the Burgess Cemetery. She leaves one brother, J. T. Hudson, of Calico Rock, Ark., one sister, Mrs. May Mayhall, of Belmont, and one son, H. E. Mayhall of Belmont. The Times extends sympathy to the bereaved.

E. R. GOOGE IS DEAD

Last Tuesday, at a home of his son, Virgil, in Fulton, Mr. E. R. Googe, age 85, one of Itawamba County's most prominent and highly respected citizens, passed away, after an illness of many months.

Mr. Googe once served his county as sheriff, and is yet spoken of as having been one of the best officials the county has had.

He leaves several children and other relatives and numerous friends, to whom The Times extends sympathy.

THE POULTRY INDUSTRY

This is my fourth year to experiment with pure-bred poultry. I like it. To say the least, it is an interesting study. I have not made a success; that is. I am fabulously rich as a result of my work. I find many things to get the profit. You learn something every day about the business. I believe I can give the beginner a few fundamental ideas.

I began with 13 chickens. Now I have more than 200 fine hens. I have 72 Brown Leghorn's and about 150 Rhode Island Reds. We have them mated and in different yards. I feed a balanced poultry feed. We are in position to furnish hatching eggs now. I had order for 17 sittings to be delivered this week. We delivered them. I have an order for 6 sittings to be delivered next week. These eggs were to fill incubators. The idea is to have the eggs when people call for them. This requires time, patience, and experience. You must plan for months in order to be ready to deliver eggs when you receive an order. The best way to get a few pure-bred chickens at the least expense is to buy a few sittings and raise a flock with your scrub hens that prove to be good for carrying little chickens. It pays to keep pure-bred poultry. They will not consume any more feed than mongrels and there is a demand for the pure-bred fowls. It will not pay to keep chickens that your neighbor will not buy; besides your chickens are not as attractive as a flock of the same kind.

LAND TO BE ASSESSED THIS YEAR

The law has been enacted by the legislature requiring land to be assessed this year and every two years thereafter. This law was passed so as land assessments will not be made in political years when county and state officers are elected.

Under the old law would have been assessed next year, which is the time for electing of county officials. Under the new law, land will be assessed every two years as heretofore, the difference being the years in which assessments are to be made.
